RUSSIANS HAVE WON A VICTORY

Petrograd, Jan. 31.—The Russian general staff gave out today the following statement:
"In the region of the forest north of Plikallen and Gumbinnen (East Prussia) the battles continue. Here, in the region of the village of Lebe-galen, we repulsed the Germans by a counter attack with bayonets.
"On the left bank of the Vistula, at the approaches to Borpinow, the Germans during the night of January 29 and the next day repeated their attacks upon our positions, but were everywhere thrown back with great losses, except at one trench which remained in the hands of the enemy.
"In the region of the village of Jil-mitze the German attempts to take the offensive during the day of the 29th failed.

General Battle.

"On the Carpathian front, in the passes of Dukla and Wyazkom, the fighting is gradually assuming the character of a general battle. In this region, the Austrians, having concentrated contingents from some of their adjoining sections and from other fronts, have attempted to deliver an offensive through the valley of the lower San and the roads leading across the passes to Sambor and Stryl.

"During the 28th and 29th battles in the Carpathians were favorable to us in several sections of our front. Particularly fortunate was our offensive in the region of the village of Nijnia Polianka, southwest of Mukla (Galicia), where by bayonet attacks we captured three lines of the enemy's trenches. Likewise fortunate was our offensive on the front southwest of Jasiska and Baligród and southeast of Loundovsk, where in one sector our troops gained a position protected by wire fences.

"Many Prisoners Taken.
"During these two days we took thirty-five more officers and 2500 soldiers, captured two rapid-fire guns and one cannon, while our other troops took prisoners the precise number of which has not been determined.

"On the Black sea on January 27 our fleet hunted out, near Samsonov, in Asia Minor, the Turkish cruisers Medjidieh and Breslau, pursuing them until nightfall. On January 25, 26 and 27 our torpedo craft sank several Turkish sailing ships. On the 28th one of them effected a bold raid upon Trebizond, 175 miles east of Samsonov, where, after cannonading the enemy's troops which fled, she damaged barracks and flour depots. The same torpedo boat silenced at Rizah, thirty-five miles east of Trebizond, two of the enemy's batteries, sank several feluccas and damaged barracks.

"The following report from the general staff of the Russian army of the Caucasus was given out:
"On the Sari Kamysh front, on the evening of January 27, one of our columns, profiting by a snowstorm, crossed the crest of the mountains and seized, after a violent struggle, the village of Garmes, making prisoners there the chief of the Thirtieth Turkish division with his staff, sixteen officers, seven surgeons and 450 others, and capturing three cannon and more than 200 rifles, a conveyance and a large quantity of war munitions and provisions.
"The next day the Turks captured the column, but were repulsed by a counter attack with great losses, abandoning to us a rapid-fire gun.
"Elsewhere there have been the usual fusillades."

BRITISH REGAIN LOST TRENCHES

London, Jan. 31.—Check to the German drive in the Argonne, recaptured by the British of all the trenches they lost before La Basse and lost by the French of several trenches near La Basse and Arras, are chronicled in official statements received in London from Paris and Berlin.
Most important to the allies was the news from the Argonne, where, in the woods of La Grurie, the scene of the German assault which forced the French to retire a distance of more than 200 yards, the latter forces on Saturday repulsed three vigorous attacks by the Kaiser's troops.

FIVE BRITISH SHIPS ARE SUNK

Submarine Sends Down Three Vessels in One Day in Irish Sea.

Dublin, Jan. 31, via London, Feb. 1, 1:50 a. m.—The steamer Leinster from Holyhead to Kingston, reports that she was chased by a German submarine for fifteen minutes off the Kish light vessel, but succeeded in escaping.
The Kish light vessel is opposite the mouth to Dublin bay.

London, Jan. 31.—Two British ships were torpedoed today in the English channel off Havre by a German submarine, continuing the raid started yesterday on British shipping by the sinking of three merchant vessels in the Irish sea.

The steamer Toko Maru and Icarus are the latest victims of the submarine. The Toko Maru was of 5080 tons and carried Belgian relief supplies.

Reversing the policy followed Saturday, when the crews of the captured vessels were given time to escape, the submarine discharged its torpedoes today without warning the crews of the doomed ships.

The new raid brings the information from French naval experts that Germany has a fleet of eighteen powerful submarines capable of attacking Britain's overseas commerce. Each craft has a radius of 2500 miles, while a radius of only 2000 miles is necessary to enforce an embargo on the food and clothing given by the New Zealanders for the relief of the Belgian refugees was valued at $7500. Besides this her cargo consisted of 97,000 carcasses of mutton.

The torpedo made a hole below the water line, but the Toko Maru remained afloat a half hour. This gave the crew of fifty-seven men a chance to get off in the small boats. The crew was picked up by the trawler Hooper and brought to Havre this afternoon. No details are available concerning the torpedoing of the Icarus.

Official Statement.
The following statement was given out by the ministry of marine:

"The Toko Maru was sunk by a torpedo from a German submarine. The English vessel Icarus also was torpedoed in the same locality.
"In the Irish sea the English steamers Linda Blanche and Ben Crucian were torpedoed.

"Hitherto the Germans, before attacking a merchant vessel, always allowed the crew sufficient time to embark in the ship's boats. That custom has now been abandoned, as was shown by the bombardment of the Admiral Ganteau, which was filled with Belgian women and children refugees. The crew was allowed to climb to violate systematically and deliberately international law."

Kilcoan a Small Ship.
The name of the third vessel sunk in the Irish sea Saturday was learned today. She was the Kilcoan and was sunk eighteen miles northwest of Liverpool bar. The vessel was allowed to leave the vessel and was later landed at Douglas, Isle of Man. The Kilcoan was a small steamer of 456 tons.

four men killed and several wounded.
"The Canadians took a number of German prisoners and inflicted severe losses on a landsturm regiment, which attacked their trenches."

Alleged Traitors Executed.

Berlin, Jan. 31 (by wireless to Sayville, L. I.)—The following official statement was made public today:
"Although the French resident general in Morocco had officially assured the American charge d'affaires at Tangier that owing to American representations the death penalty against the Germans, Karl Fricke and Herr Grunler, who were accused of high treason, would not be carried out, but that a written appeal would be forwarded to the president of the French republic, their execution, according to newspaper reports, was carried out nevertheless on January 28."

TRIPLE MURDER IN NEW YORK

Herman Auerbach Kills Two Daughters and Wife and Himself.

New York, Jan. 31.—Hermann Auerbach, formerly a wealthy real estate operator, today shot all but one of his family as they slept in his home in an exclusive apartment, he once owned at 336 Central Park West. He then killed himself. The police believe he was driven desperate by approaching poverty after having lived a life of luxury.

The tragedy is remarkable because of the weapon. It was a Winchester repeating rifle loaded with 44-caliber dum-dum bullets, to which was affixed a Maxim silencer. The attachment permitted the slayer-suicide to move from bed to bed, firing one death shot after another with no sound louder than the click of the weapon to warn the next victim of approaching death.

His wife, Claire, 34 years old; his daughter, Beatrice, 18, and another daughter, Daisy, 16, were Auerbach's victims. Lester, his 14-year-old son, who slept in an adjoining room, was the only one to escape death, his father sparing him so there might be some one to notify relatives and the police.

Auerbach arose and crept into the bedroom of his daughters adjoining the room of his wife and his wife, just as dawn was breaking. The time is fixed by the condition of the bodies when found and the general condition of the room.

According to Coroner Feinberg, previously he had scribbled a note, which he slipped under the door of his son's room, and which read:
"When you wake up telephone Uncle Leopold and Joe and grandpa."
Slays Wife and Daughters.
Stepping between the twin beds in which his two beautiful daughters lay, Auerbach placed the weapon close to the head of Beatrice, who was in the bed nearest the door, and pulled the trigger. There was a single sharp click, the Maxim silencer muffling the report of the rifle, and a bullet leaped into the brain of the sleeping girl, killing her instantly.

At the time the other daughter, Daisy, was sleeping undisturbed. There was no outcry, no move, nothing to warn her.

Auerbach then placed the muzzle against the brain of his youngest daughter and fired. Only the click of the weapon broke the silence.

Entering the room of his wife, a single shot and Mrs. Auerbach was dead.

Murderer Kills Self.

Getting into his own bed, the crazed man prepared to make the tragedy complete. The butt of the rifle, a short weapon, was placed against the bed of the dead wife. Sitting up in his own couch, the husband placed the muzzle against his head, and reaching over pulled the trigger. For the last time there was a scarcely audible click and four lives had been wiped out in a few minutes, and neither the son nor the maid, Lottie Schliep, who slept nearby, had the slightest inkling of the crime.

Auerbach was 49 years old. He was the son of David Auerbach of D. Auerbach & Co., wealthy candy manufacturers. He has been twice married, the wife he killed today being the offspring of his first wife, who died about ten years ago.

About one and a half years ago Auerbach began to get into financial difficulties and was compelled to unload his valuable properties at a loss.

Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning the telephone rang and the man answered it. A voice inquired for Beatrice. The maid said Beatrice was still asleep. The person then asked for Lester, who went to the telephone. He told the maid it was his cousin, who wanted to make an engagement to take Beatrice skating later in the day.

"I guess I'd better call her," he said.

Knocking on the door of his sister's room and receiving no answer he opened the door and entered. The next instant he bounded out of the room and shouted to the maid:

"My God, they are dead."

Rushing to the room of his parents for the purpose of notifying them, he entered without knocking, and the maid again heard him cry out.

Wound is Slight.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 31.—General Francisco Villa, reported shot and seriously wounded, was seen yesterday by passengers arriving here today from Aguas Calientes, where Villa recently established headquarters. Apparently he was not suffering from a serious wound.

Preliminary fighting was reported today at Queretaro, an important position between Aguas Calientes and Mexico City. General Lucio Blanco is said to have attacked the Villa garrison under General Manuel Chaz. The result of the fighting is not known here.

An aeroplane was shipped south today from Juarez for use by Villistas in the campaign against Carranza troops. The Carranza forces also have aeroplanes.

LIFELONG RHEUMATIC VICTIM SAYS AKOZ QUICKLY CURED HER

Mrs. T. H. Hardy of Salt Lake City Warmly Praises the New California Mineral Discovery.

Mrs. T. H. Hardy of 315 Almond street, Salt Lake City, who was a lifelong sufferer of rheumatism, has at last found relief by using Akoz, the new California medicinal mineral that is now being introduced in this city. The severity of the pains was checked almost from the start and in a short time she was absolutely free of all rheumatic conditions.

"I was a lifelong sufferer with inflammatory rheumatism," said Mrs. Hardy, in speaking of her recovery. "I had pains of varying severity in all parts of my body from the time I was a little child."

"At frequent intervals my knees became so badly affected that I could hardly move. Nothing that I tried gave me any relief until I began to use Akoz. It promptly checked the pain and now for the first time since I can remember I do not suffer with rheumatism. It has exceeded all expectations in ridding me of my suffering and I most cheerfully recommend it to anyone afflicted as I was."

Thus do the various persons using Akoz commend it after it has ended their rheumatism, stomach, kidney, bladder and liver trouble, diabetes, Bright's disease, eczema, catarrh, piles and other ailments.

Akoz is now being introduced in this city at McIntyre's Drug Store, Eccles building, Ogden, and all other leading druggists. Visit, phone or write for further information regarding this advertisement—Advertisement.

"They're dead, too."

With his face ashen, the son rushed down the hallway toward the telephone and as he passed his own door he saw a note in the doorway which he had overlooked when he came from the room. Its contents gave the boy an insight into what happened. Cutting off the cousin, who still was waiting on the telephone, the boy showed rare presence of mind and in the next few minutes sent out twelve telephone calls to relatives and physicians.

Coroner Feinberg announced it was a clear case of murder and suicide. No arrests were made.

GRANITE QUARRIED FROM BOULDERS.

An interesting feature of the production of granite in California is the quantity of stone quarried from large residual boulders. These boulders, according to the United States geological survey, represent the remnants left from prolonged disintegration of large granite masses, but after a thin weathered coating is removed they yield sound stone. Good granite should stand a crushing strain of at least 20,000 pounds to the square inch; some granites will stand 40,000 pounds. This may be compared to common red brick, which will crush at about 3000 pounds to the square inch.

VILLA WOUNDED BY STRAY BULLET

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 31.—Details of the shooting affray in which General Francisco Villa, chief of the army of the north, was wounded, reveal the fact that the bullet inflicting the single wound he received was a stray missile fired during a duel between two of Villa's staff officers. The bullet struck General Villa near the heart, inflicting a slight flesh wound. The injury is not serious.

The affair occurred three days ago at Aguas Calientes. Two staff officers became involved in a quarrel in Villa's private car while Villa was sitting at his desk. The argument became warmer and they began shooting. The wounding of Villa brought the duel to a sudden climax and the officers were immediately placed under arrest by General Rodolfo Fierro, known as "the killer" and Villa's personal bodyguard and chief of staff.

A court martial was convened immediately, the officers found guilty and summarily executed. Their names have not been made public by the convention authorities. It is definitely stated that General Fierro had no part in the fight.

Villa has continued his duties, despite his wound. Over the wire today, during a telegraphic conference with the border officials, who told him of the reports circulated in the United States that he had been murdered, Villa said of his wound: "Me pico no mas—no es nada." (It was just a scrap, nothing at all.)
